Powered by the P360 3.0L Ingenium Inline-6 engine with mild-hybrid (MHEV) technology, it delivers a smooth 355 hp, enabling a 0–100 km/h sprint in exactly 6.0 seconds. The standard Dynamic Air Suspension is the vehicle's standout mechanical feature, utilizing pre-emptive technology to adjust the ride height and stiffness based on navigation data, ensuring the "library-quiet" comfort the brand is known for across various Canadian terrains. The S trim for 2026 is far from "basic," coming standard with high-tier appointments that were previously optional. The cabin is an exercise in minimalist luxury, anchored by a 13.1-inch curved glass Pivi Pro touchscreen and a 15-speaker Meridian™ Sound System. Despite its "Sport" moniker, comfort is paramount; passengers enjoy Grained Leather upholstery, 12-way heated front seats, and a fixed panoramic roof that bathes the interior in natural light. For the driver, the standard Interactive Driver Display and Adaptive Cruise Control with Steering Assist make long highway hauls through the Rockies or the 401 effortless. Engineered for year-round Canadian capability, the P360 S includes a heated steering wheel, heated front and rear seats, and Land Rover's legendary Terrain Response 2 system, which automatically optimizes the vehicle for ice, snow, mud, or sand. Safety is a priority with a standard 3D Surround Camera providing a virtual bird's-eye view, and Wade Sensing technology for navigating water up to 900 mm deep. With a class-leading 7,716 lb towing capacity and flush-deployable door handles that maintain its sleek silhouette, the 2026 P360 S is a versatile powerhouse that makes no compromises on style or substance.
